

Is disaster around the bend?

In the case of an emergency, can you properly identify everyone in your facility? Knowing the identity of every person on premises can prove vital in an emergency evacuation situation.

EvacuationID™ Software automates and organizes the process of identifying everybody in your facility. In the event of an evacuation you will be able to identify every person in the building, confirm their identity and transfer necessary information to the police, fire, ambulance and any other security personnel.

Computers By Design, Inc. is a registered vendor with the following agencies:

